old Shasta. Their flowers are much larger, and more chaste in form, stems much longer and plants more robust in growth. To grow these daisies properly, plant in a rich loose soil; give the plants lots of room and a liberal supply of water. Keep the blossom buds picked off until the plants are established. Excellent for cutting, and will keep a full week in water.

Having procured our stock direct from Mr. Burbank, we know it to be pure.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS:

Strong and well-rooted plants08 .75

Col. D. Appleton—Very large, deep golden yellow flower of fine finish and form, a vigorous easy grower, with excellent stem and foliage. A leader.

Timothy Eaton—One of the largest of the Japanese incurved type, and winner of many prizes, purest white, of the true globular shape, in habit of growth and length of stem it is everything that could be desired.

Major Bonnaiffon—Bright clear yellow, the yellow for all purposes; produces flowers six to seven inches across, on straight stiff stems of good length. An ideal Chrysanthemum, should be included in every collection.

Lavender Queen—A new and distinct coloring in Chrysanthemums; a soft lavender pink, flowers large with outer petals reflexed and centre erect.

Mme. Marie Liger—A variety of French origin, grand deep flowers with stout heavily foliaged stems, color a magnificent shade of pink. No Chrysanthemum introduction of recent years has received more attention.

Ivory—This is one of the very best varieties for pot culture or cut flowers; the plant is a vigorous, compact grower and makes a handsome specimen with very little training, flowers pure white of exquisite form and finish; petals stiff and lasting.

Maud Dean—Probably the most popular large pink; an extra good grower, making long, stout stems with beautiful foliage; flowers extra large and beautifully formed.

Mrs. Perrin—A wonderful clear bright pink; the brightest shade of pink yet introduced: the flower is of globular, incurved form with fine satin finish.

Modesto—This variety is one of the finest yellows and has been a prize winner at every exhibition of Mums; it is intense in color.

F. J. Taggart—An extra large light yellow of the Ostrich Plume type. Quite a decided improvement over every other yellow of this class, the hairy filaments being very pronounced, an entire flower quite double.

Black Beauty—One of the very few good dark velvety red varieties; reflexed petals.

Australian Gold—A beautiful yellow, a standard variety.

Merry Christmas—Sent out by F. Dorner & Sons. A very late white of the incurved variety; a favorite with florists as a cut bloom for every purpose.

Mrs. H. Roberson—A standard yellow, everybody's favorite.

N. H. Chadwick—A standard shade of lavender pink. An enormous producer of early flowers in October.

PHENOMENAL BERRY.

When it comes to a berry for profit for all localities we will have to accredit this berry as being the long-sought berry. Two plants have produced over $14.00 worth of berries in one season, which were readily sold. The demand for berries of this variety in the Sacramento markets cannot be supplied. It would be the same in all other towns when this berry is once introduced. Everywhere throughout the United States wherever it has been tried it has proved a great success. It is of the Loganberry type of berries. It is, however, one-third larger than the Loganberry, being of enormous size, the fruits averaging over one and one-half inches in length. The fruits are exceedingly firm and great shippers. They are of a most dazzling rose red in color, and in flavor are totally distinct from anything known at the present time, the berries having a delightful sweetness and exquisite aroma decidedly their own. This is an unrivaled fruit for pies and shortcake; also as a canning fruit it is superb. The vines grow in a trailing form, and should be trellised; the canes grow from 12 to 20 feet in a season. This berry ripens ten days ahead of the Loganberry; it is far superior in every respect to the mammoth blackberry or large Loganberry, which was first introduced last season.15 $1.25

HYBRID PINK STRAWBERRY-BLACKBERRY.

The greatest of all fruit novelties. A new berry of surpassing merit, that flourishes well in the dryest as well as in the coldest and most forbidding localities. The fruit is of large size, of the most delicate glowing pink, and very deliciously flavored. This berry is equal to the best strawberry to serve with sugar and cream; in fact it may be termed a blackberry, with the most spicy, aromatic flavor of some wild wood strawberry. This is a fine market berry, as it travels well and does not lose its brilliant crimson tint after being picked any length of time. The leaves are a glossy dark green, and the vine is an evergreen..... .20 $1.50

MENDOCINO THIMBLEBERRY.

A very rapid-growing thimbleberry, fruit reddish-purple; flowers, 4 inches in diameter, like single roses; very fragrant. A splendid ornamental plant20 $2.00

McDONALD BERRY.

This most valuable new berry is of Texas origin. It is a tree dewberry—that is, it grows into a powerful, upright bush, very rigid and stout, and throws out hundreds of lateral branches, which hang and droop in a most graceful manner. This berry cannot be equaled for productiveness, as a single plant will yield on an average of 20 quarts of perfect fruit to a plant. Another most wonderful feature is its extreme earliness, as it ripens its fruit a week earlier than the earliest dewberries. Its bright green foliage is retained throughout the hottest weather, and in California it is a perpetual evergreen. The berries are of enormous size, deliciously sweet, and highly flavored—in fact, their flavor is wonderful, so melting, rich and sweet. It is a remarkably vigorous grower, and stands heat and cold alike. In color it is a sparkling black25 $2.00

JAPANESE CRANBERRY BUSH.

A most valuable novelty; a bush attaining a height of 15 feet, which yields enormous quantities of bright berries the size of a cranberry. These small fruits are delicious and make excellent pies, jams, jellies, etc. An ornamental plant of great merit, with its silvery foliage and crimson fruit.30 $3.00

Eldorado—The best blackberry ever introduced. Vines very vigorous and hardy; medium in earliness; fruiting in pendulous, slender, hairy spikes, with few thorns; color deep black; almost colorless, with small seeds; flavor sweet; quality rich and very good.10 $1.00

Himalayan Giant Blackberry—Will yield 100 quarts of fruit to a plant during a season. Berries ripen in July and August. They are nearly an inch in diameter, jet black color, round, and of exquisite flavor 15 1.50

New Golden Blackberry—Fruit a glowing golden yellow, intensely highly flavored, very productive, and in size as large as the Early Harvest Blackberry 35 3.50

New Mammoth Blackberry—It is the very largest berry fruit of anything known in the world today. The fruit averages from two to three inches in length and is produced in the greatest abundance. The highest flavored and most delicious of all blackberries. They ripen three weeks before any dewberry or blackberry. A great shipper and money maker 15 1.25

Oregon Evergreen, or Everbearing—Quite a distinct sort, with beautiful cut leaf, ornamental foliage, the vines growing year after year like a grape vine. These berries ripen in September, are large in size, of a rich vinous flavor, and single plants will yield from 25 to 50 gallons of fruit in a season..... 15 1.25

Mersereau—Remarkably strong grower, upright, producing stout, stocky canes. Claimed to be the hardiest blackberry, standing uninjured 20 degrees below zero without protection. Mexican—A perfect flowering sort, absolutely the very best we ever grew, a stout, vigorous grower, with heavy, dark green foliage. It bears continuously from early spring until killed by frosts. It is one of the largest of all strawberries, and frequently seven berries will fill a box. Single plants have been known to yield 4 quarts in a season. The fruit is brilliantly colored, of delicious flavor, and possessed of a strong strawberry aroma. Slightly conical in shape. Young plants always give a good crop the first season they are set out. It succeeds in all soils and climates.30	$1.50
Laxton's Noble—Perfect flowering, most marvelous in every respect. Vigorous, rapid grower, with clean, beautiful foliage. The young plants give a heavy crop the first season they are set out. The fruit is a clear, glistening red, and possessed of an exquisite flavor. Under good culture berries will average from 10 to 25 to the box.
